

Ephraim Clark
Professor of Finance
eclark@countrymetrics.com

Ephraim Clark is professor of Finance at Middlesex University and editor of the journal Frontiers in Finance and Economics at Lille Graduate School of Business. He has degrees from the University of Notre Dame and the University of Madrid. His Ph.D's in Economics are from the University of Paris. Besides his academic activities, he has worked as a financial analyst, forecaster, strategic planner and consultant. Clark is the author of eight books and over seventy-five academic and professional papers in journals such as Management Science, Journal of International Money and Finance, European Journal of Operational Research, European Financial Management, Review of International Economics, Journal of Economics and Business, Multinational Finance Journal, Garp Risk Review, Euromoney, Global Investor, Revue Banque, etc. Honours and awards include numerous research grants and best paper awards. He serves on the editorial boards of a number of scholarly journals and is the founding editor of the European Journal of Finance. He has been elected as president of the Multinational Finance Society, president of the International Society for the Intercommunication of New Ideas and vice-president of the International Association of Finance and Banking. He is also a member of numerous professional organizations and is a permanent member of the Académie Européenne.